

Concept Question 10-1: Why do we use the YIQ color system in image processing? Why not just use the RGB color system exclusively?

Applying histogram equalization to each component of an RGB color system will alter the colors of the enhanced image, but the color remains the same when we apply histogram equalization to the Y channel.