

Concept Question 12-5: What is backpropagation and what is it used for?

Backpropagation quickly computes the sensitivity of the mean-square error of the output of the neural network to values of the weights inside the neural network. A single iteration of steepest descent is then used to vary these weights to eventually minimize the mean-square error of the output.