

Concept Question 4-5: Why do quadratic and cubic interpolation require computation of coefficients, while linear interpolation does not?

Because the basis functions used for quadratic and cubic interpolation have durations greater than 1, so they overlap. Linear interpolation uses triangular basis functions which have durations 1, so they don't overlap.