

Concept Question 7-1: Why is it useful to represent a signal or image using a few wavelet coefficients?

A signal or image can be stored using only a few numbers (compression); it can be reconstructed from only a few linear combinations of the coefficients (compressed sensing); additive noise can be reduced by thresholding and shrinkage.