

Concept Question 1-8: An MRI system uses three different types of magnetic fields. For what purpose?

The static magnetic field makes hydrogen nuclei (protons) spin and precess.

The gradient magnetic field makes the magnetic field strength vary with location, localizing its effect.

The RF magnetic field makes the tissue resonate at its Larmor frequency.