

Concept Question 1-9: What determines the Larmor frequency of a particular biological material?

The Larmor frequency at a location is the product of the magnetic field strength at that location and the gyromagnetic ratio of the tissue at that location. See Eq. (1.19).